FOOTBALL NETBALL RUGBY

On Wednesday, after school, the under-15 football team coached by Mr Chislett competed in the Rugby under-16 7-a-side football tournament at the Rugby Town Football Club AstroTurf on Butlin Road. Schools that participated in this tournament included Ashlawn School, Avon Valley School, Harris School and Bilton School as well as our school. The team participated in all six matches and came 6th in the tournament, narrowly missing out on fifth place in an exciting second encounter with Avon Valley School who managed to better the team on the second attempt as well as the first. The fifth-place playoff was played as a 9-a-side much to the joy of the team and coach Mr Chislett who had rotated the team consistently over the course of the short 8-minute matches. The team did not win any games over the course of the tournament, mainly due to older, superior opposition, but earned multiple draws. However, the team was praised by many opposition coaches due to their confidence and nerve of playing against teams who had older, stronger and more skilled players. The team were captained by Joe Wheelwright who was particularly inspirational and supportive throughout the tournament.

On Friday, Staff vs Students Netball was ran by Mr Gaffin in aid of Movember.

The game was played in good spirits and saw the Staff narrowly win in normal time but the Students restored some pride with a win in the just for fun penalty shot competition.

Well done to all and thanks to Mr Gaffin for organising!

LSS Under 15s vs President Kennedy's

The U15s side came into the match looking for a secure win after the last round's defeat to King Henry's VIII. There were a couple of new faces in the squad with Euan baker taking the step up into u15s from the u14s after showing very impressive performances. he would start as inside centre. President Kennedy's were very quick off the mark with a try in the first few minutes of the game starting. After this the side had to restart and start afresh.

After a few minutes of competitive open play with both side conceding penalties the first LSS try came from the newcomer Euan baker to gain the side's first try. After some more good play from both sides president Kennedy scored a try in the corner to put them selves back in the game. After this try the u15s side really seemed to gain some momentum with a try from Nick Taylor on the outside bring the scores back to level. Sam Childerhouse then found space and was able to score the sides 3rd try of the game. After this Will Adamson scored 2 quick successive tries to really extend the lead over President Kennedy's. It was at this point that the discipline from President Kennedy's started to drop, and we saw foul play be penalised and put president Kennedy's on the back foot. The game soon calmed down and Sam was able to crash his way over the line to secure his second try of the game. Santos ran a great line to find himself scoring a very well-deserved try. In the final minutes we saw the discipline fall again and the match got very heated. Nobody from the LSS side rose to this and Sheriff game remained clean. In the last few minutes Chic Jacobs scored his first try for the school after running a good support line off of Euan Baker. Full time was called, and it was a decisive win for LSS 42-10 to stand the side in good stead for the next match. Unfortunately the discipline issues meant that Alex Taylor got a concussion after a harsh incident with an opponent player.

After the match Sam Childerhouse was named man of the match for his impressive ball carrying, breakdown precision and eyes open, play which all allowed him to gain his 2 tries.

The u15s side still has some points to work on from the match but overall it was a very successful game that makes us look on to the next few games in a confident manner but for some it felt like a game that could and should have been a lot cleaner.

OUTSIDE OF SCHOOL EXTRA NEWS

Old Laurentian's Colts

First of all, a huge well done to Harry Spears for being the first product of the Colts system to represent a senior side, running in 3 tries and being voted man of the match in 55-5 demolition of Daventry, even slotting a drop goal conversion for good measure. And he carried this vein of form into the Colts friendly meeting with Towcester in a 34-0 win, as he ran in a length of the field blockbuster try to open the scores. Lovely link up play from the scrums between Harry Lummis and Matthew O'Connor caused the Wasps number 8 to waltz over for 2 tries. An injury to captain Toby Corrigan gave Jake Love a chance to shine at his preferred back row (although due to injuries he was moved out to the wing), where the LSS year 11 enjoyed a man of the match performance in just his second colts appearance, closing the scoring for the OL's in poor conditions. Well done to the LSS Year 12's as well as LSS Year 11 Jake Love who have been doing the school proud with recent performances for OLs.

Christian Wade quits Rugby for NFL

Wade, 27 is third in the all-time Premiership Try scorers with 82 tries but somehow only has one international cap to his name! His decision to quit rugby has been reported since last Friday and former England player Ugo Monye believes that he has been let down by the sport. Wade is expected to go through the league's IPPP (international player pathway programme). Compared to the average NFL player: Wade weighs 86kg and measures 1.73m tall which is 5ft8 much smaller than the average NFL player at 6ft5. Also, the average weight of an NFL player is 112kg once again a considerable amount more than Wade. The question is will he make it in searching for the fame in American Football?

RFU to introduce in-season breaks

The next three English domestic rugby union seasons will be extended and also include in-season breaks, with players limited to a maximum of 35 matches per campaign. But while the game limit for England players has been cut from 32 full matches to 30, some could be involved in as many as 35 games. The season would start in early-to-mid September and For the first time, there will be guaranteed breaks for players in a bid to improve player welfare, with penalties for clubs who breach the policy. This is expected to help lower injury rates. The key announcements include: Guaranteed in-season breaks for players in each of the three seasons. Mandatory five-week post-season rest for all players, which includes two weeks' absolute rest and three weeks' active rest. Minimum 10 weeks off/pre-season for players in the England Senior Elite Player Squad. Minimum 12 weeks between the Premiership final and round one of the following league season. Maximum 35 match involvements (more than 20 minutes) in any one season for all players. Maximum 30 full game equivalents (reduced from 32) in any one season for all players. England players to have a mandatory rest week if playing all international matches and more than 65% of total minutes (reduced from 80%).

Vietnam Grand Prix

Vietnam will host a Formula 1 grand prix for the first time in April 2020. A "multi-year" deal has been agreed to stage a race on the streets of the capital Hanoi.

It is the first new addition to the calendar under Liberty Media's ownership of the sport. "Since we became involved in this sport in 2017, we have talked about developing new destination cities to broaden the appeal of Formula 1," said F1's chief executive Chase Carey. "The Vietnamese Grand Prix is a realisation of that ambition." The proposed Hanoi track, which features 22 turns over its 5.565km length, will become F1's fourth street race, along with Monaco, Singapore and Azerbaijan. The circuit layout, created in collaboration with F1 designer Hermann Tilke, also features long straights, one of which is 1.5km in length and should see cars reach speeds of around 335km/h (208mph).
